

CHARLES JENCKS

CHARLES JENCKS WITH MAGGIE K. JENCKS

- Charles Jencks was born in 1939 in Massachusetts, USA.
- still lives in America
- Charles studied English Literature at Harvard University, Boston, USA, and Architectural History in London.
- has scottish ancestry
- first became famous for his bubble diagram of architecture and for his explanation of what Postmodernism really means within the field of architecture.
- He borrowed the term 'Postmodern' from literature and applied it to architecture.

DESIGN PRINCIPLES

LANDFORMING

- As well as writing, Charles Jencks now spends much of his time designing landscape and sculpture. He calls his creative process 'landforming'.
- Charles Jencks has coined the term 'landforming' to describe the way he creates large-scale works of art in nature.
- Jencks' landforms are a combination of sculpture, words and gardens.

CHARLES JENCKS

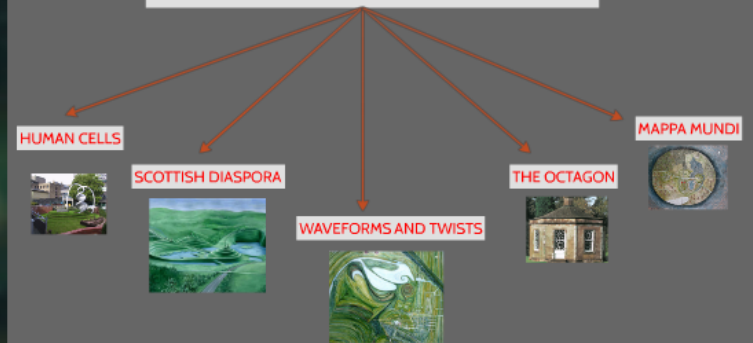

CHARLES JENCKS WITH MAGGIE K. JENCKS

- Charles Jencks was born in 1939 in Massachusetts, USA.
- still lives in America
- Charles studied English Literature at Harvard University, Boston, USA, and Architectural History in London.
- has scottish ancestry
- first became famous for his bubble diagram of architecture and for his explanation of what Postmodernism really means within the field of architecture.
- He borrowed the term 'Postmodern' from literature and applied it to architecture.

DESIGN PRINCIPLES

LANDFORMING

- As well as writing, Charles Jencks now spends much of his time designing landscape and sculpture. He calls his creative process 'landforming'.
- Charles Jencks has coined the term 'landforming' to describe the way he creates large-scale works of art in nature.
- Jencks' landforms are a combination of sculpture, words and gardens.

CHARLES JENCKS WITH MAGGIE K JENCKS

- Charles Jencks was born in 1939 in Massachusetts, USA.
- still lives in America
- Charles studied English Literature at Harvard University, Boston, USA, and Architectural History in London.
- has scottish ancestry
- first became famous for his bubble diagram of architecture and for his explanation of what Postmodernism really means within the field of architecture.
- He borrowed the term 'Postmodern' from literature and applied it to architecture.

