Resume

Resume needs functional style classification of the as an aspect of modern functional stylistics.
Such a classification of English (ES) is more integrated to use in cross-border business.
ES can be seen as an example of the construction of language varieties and their relation.
An important step is the type of speech (TS) which is linguistic and stylistic classification.
The main aim of this study is to show how to be defined in the future. This study is the core of the project.

The system of functional styles by J.R. Galperin

"Style is the result of communicability of the writer who consciously and deliberately selects language means of creative style."
Colloquial speech by its nature will not need itself to careful selection of linguistic resources and there is no doubt, it is not organized as the part of the "speech".
