REGRESSION ANALYSIS - RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

Observations

going to effect the real estate market? They are most likely going to cause property values to decline.

General Area

Residential real estate is classified as a single family or multifamily residence, that is being used for non-business purposes.

THECASESOLUTIONS.COM

Cites

Forbes.com/realestate regencyrealestate.com Google definition

Current Situation

The market for residential properties have been at an all time high this year, with the help of the rock bottom interest rates. This is the best real estate has been in quite a while.

while.
The forecast for this fall is estimated to continue to hold its own as home buyers see these rates and jump on the opportunity to purchase property for such a great price.

Future Possibilities

Towards the end of 2016 and the beginning of 2017, the projection for the year is that construction will increase and home prices will rise. Mortgage rates are going to rise, partially because of the federal Reserves tightening and partially because of the demand for credit.

REGRESSION ANALYSIS - RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

Observations

going to effect the real estate market? They are most likely going to cause property values to decline.

General Area

Residential real estate is classified as a single family or multifamily residence, that is being used for non-business purposes.

THECASESOLUTIONS.COM

Cites

Forbes.com/realestate regencyrealestate.com Google definition

Current Situation

The market for residential properties have been at an all time high this year, with the help of the rock bottom interest rates. This is the best real estate has been in quite a while.

while.
The forecast for this fall is estimated to continue to hold its own as home buyers see these rates and jump on the opportunity to purchase property for such a great price.

Future Possibilities

Towards the end of 2016 and the beginning of 2017, the projection for the year is that construction will increase and home prices will rise. Mortgage rates are going to rise, partially because of the federal Reserves tightening and partially because of the demand for credit.

General Area

Residential real estate is classified as a single family or multifamily residence, that is being used for non-business purposes.

THECASESOLUTIONS.COM

Cites

Observations

Current Situation

The market for residential properties have been at an all time high this year, with the help of the rock bottom interest rates. This is the best real estate has been in quite a while.

The forecast for this fall is estimated to continue to hold its own as home buyers see these rates and jump on the opportunity to purchase property for such a great price.

Future Possibilities