

Research Accounting

Thecasesolutions.com

Anindita Putri Ambarwati

Denys Alexandro

Yoanna Evelina

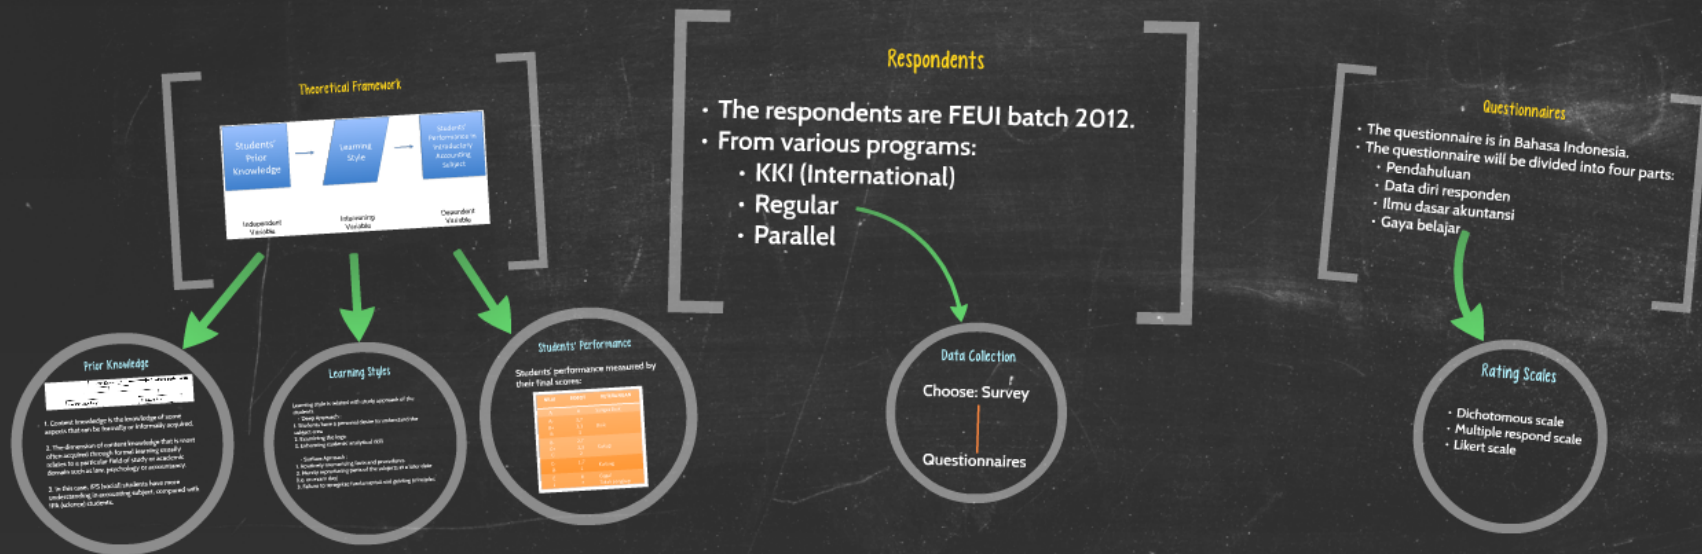

Research Accounting

Thecasesolutions.com

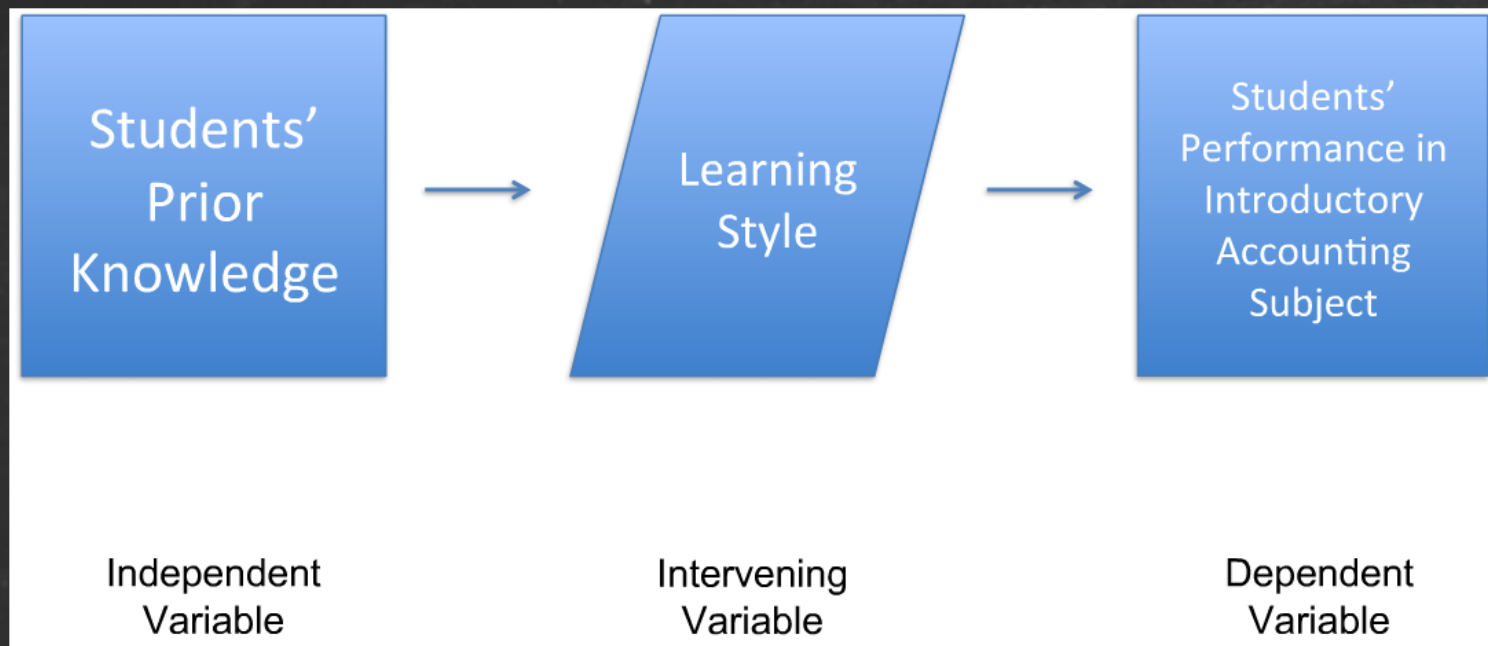

Anindita Putri Ambarwati

Denys Alexandro

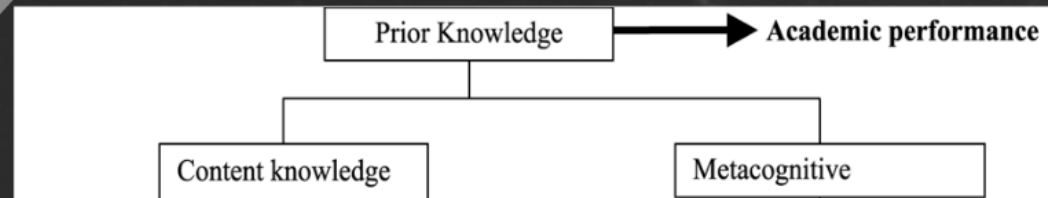

Yoanna Evelina

Theoretical Framework

Prior Knowledge

1. Content knowledge is the knowledge of some aspects that can be formally or informally acquired.
2. The dimension of content knowledge that is most often acquired through formal learning usually relates to a particular field of study or academic domain such as law, psychology or accountancy.
3. In this case, IPS (social) students have more understanding in accounting subject, compared with IPA (science) students.