Martin Luther King Jr.

Schooling

Thecasesolutions.com

Martin Luther King never really completed high school. MLK Jr. was so intelligent that he skipped his first and last year at Booker T. Washington High School and went directly into college during his junior year. He entered college when he was just 15 years old.

Childhood

Born: January 15, 1929, Atlanta, Georgia

Martin Luther King Jr. was a very successful man during his time period. Dr. King was the leader of the Civil Rights Movement, an American Baptist minister, activist, and a humanitarian (a person who seeks to promote human welfare). Martin was an individual that doesn't come around very often. He stood up for what he believed in and if that meant he had to get arrested then he would do it. King was hero to the African American community.

The son of the pastor of the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta, King was ordained in 1947 and became (1954) minister of a Baptist church in Montgomery, Alabama

The Struggle

Thecasesolutions.com

In the mid 1900's many African American citizens were faced with segregation. One person that played a very important role during this time period was Martin Luther King Jr. . MLK was the leader of the Civil Rights Movement and had many struggles along the way. This connects to my quote because this shows that Martin was going through a struggle.

What he Believed In

Thecasesolutions.com

Martin Luther King Jr. believed that all American citizens, even African Americans, should be treated equal. According to americaslibrary.gov, "The first step King took was leading a bus boycott to help end racism on city buses." Although this seems like a little action, it was actually the beginning to a legacy. This connects to my quote because it shows that King was trying to make a change and it was going to take awhile.
