

UFS Corporation (A)

TheCaseSolutions.com

UFS Corporation (A)

TheCaseSolutions.com

What is Linux?

Linux is an example of Open Source software development and Free Operating System (OS).

TheCaseSolutions.com

What is Windows?

Windows is a personal computer operating system from Microsoft that, together with some commonly used business applications such as Microsoft Word and Excel, has become a de facto "standard" for individual users in most corporations as well as in most homes.

TheCaseSolutions.com

What Is Unix?

Unix is an operating system that is very popular in universities, companies, big enterprises etc.

TheCaseSolutions.com

TheCaseSolutions.com

Linux

- Linux can be freely distributed, downloaded freely, distributed through magazines, Books, etc.
- Can be used by Everyone From home users to developers and computer enthusiasts.
- Dozens of different kinds of processors.
- Linux is developed by Open Source development.
- Linux has had about 60-100 viruses listed till date.
- Ext2, Ext3, Ext4, Jfs, ReiserFS, Xfs, Btrfs, FAT, FAT32, NTFS is its file supporting systems.

Unix

- Different flavors of Unix have different cost structures according to vendors.
- Unix operating systems were developed mainly for mainframes, servers and workstations except OS/2, Which is designed for everyone.
- The UNIX operating system is used in internet servers, workstations & PCs.
- Unix systems are divided into various other flavors, mostly developed by AT&T as well as various commercial vendors and non-profit organizations.
- A rough estimate of UNIX viruses is between 85 -120 viruses reported till date.
- jfs, gpts, hfs, hfs+, ufs, xfs, zfs format are its file support systems.

The image features a large, white-outlined circle centered on a background with a vertical color gradient from light green at the top to dark blue at the bottom. The background is decorated with soft, out-of-focus bokeh circles in various colors. A thick white diagonal line is visible in the bottom right corner. The text 'TheCaseSolutions.com' is centered within the white circle.

TheCaseSolutions.com

A large white circle is centered on a background with a vertical color gradient from light green at the top to dark blue at the bottom. The text 'TheCaseSolutions.com' is centered within the circle.

TheCaseSolutions.com

TheCaseSolutions.com