

Teaching Excellence: Reflecting on What Makes Great Professors Great

Protocol for Teacher Reflection
Elizabeth Martinez
University of Phoenix
CUR 555
Professor Jennifer Ashton
November 27, 2017

Introduction

Thecasesolutions.com

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Reflective Practice Protocol

Thecasesolutions.com

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Teachers that use reflection in their classrooms (reflective) are often more effective and create their own teaching style. Reflective teachers are more likely to be successful in their classrooms and are more likely to be successful in their careers.

Strengths

Thecasesolutions.com

- Professional growth
- Productive Professional Development meetings
- Achieving students goal
- Developing Teacher/Student relationship
- Teacher support's student learning
- Enhance and enrich teaching
- Willing to grow and learn new strategies
- Discuss about Teaching & Learning using the critical incident protocol

Weaknesses

Thecasesolutions.com

- Poor Professional Development Focus on one core subject rather in all
- Lack of information
- Intervention not being used to enhance practices
- Lack of collaboration
- Lack of support from administration/teachers
- Not given enough time for reflection
- Reflection is not being used to enhance practices
- Some of the reflections are done alone
- Not having a foundational knowledge of understanding the concept of reflective practice
- Application of knowledge taking skills in reflecting on practice both individually and collaboratively

Next steps

Thecasesolutions.com

- Reflective practice is not being used to enhance practices
- Lack of information
- Intervention not being used to enhance practices
- Lack of collaboration
- Lack of support from administration/teachers
- Not given enough time for reflection
- Reflection is not being used to enhance practices
- Some of the reflections are done alone
- Not having a foundational knowledge of understanding the concept of reflective practice
- Application of knowledge taking skills in reflecting on practice both individually and collaboratively

Thecasesolutions.com

Teaching Excellence: Reflecting on What Makes Great Professors Great

Protocol for Teacher Reflection
Elizabeth Martinez
University of Phoenix
CUR 555
Professor Jennifer Ashton
November 27, 2017

Introduction Thecasesolutions.com

Teachers that use reflective teaching strategies in their classrooms practice and take in feedback and work on their teaching. Reflection allows our students to become fully aware of the teacher's role in the classroom and the teacher's role in the classroom. The teacher's role in the classroom is to be a facilitator of learning. The teacher's role in the classroom is to be a facilitator of learning.

Reflective practice for teachers allows an educator to look at what is working and what is not working in the classroom. The teacher's role in the classroom is to be a facilitator of learning. The teacher's role in the classroom is to be a facilitator of learning.

Reflective Practice Protocol Thecasesolutions.com

Reflective practice is a process of looking back on what you have done and what you have learned from it. It is a process of looking back on what you have done and what you have learned from it. It is a process of looking back on what you have done and what you have learned from it. It is a process of looking back on what you have done and what you have learned from it.

Strengths

Thecasesolutions.com

- Professional growth
- Productive Professional Development meetings
- Achieving students' goal
- Developing Teacher/Student relationship
- Teacher support's student learning
- Enhance and enrich teaching
- Willing to grow and learn new strategies
- Discuss about Teaching & learning using the critical incident protocol

Weaknesses

Thecasesolutions.com

- Poor Professional Development
- Focus on one case subject rather than all
- Lack of information
- Information not being used to enhance practice
- Lack of collaboration
- Lack of support from administration/coaches
- Not given enough time for reflection
- Reflection is not being used to enhance practice
- Some of the reflections are done alone
- Not having a foundational knowledge of understanding the concept of reflective practice
- Application of knowledge building skills in reflecting on practice both individually and collaboratively

Next steps

Thecasesolutions.com

- Focus on one case subject rather than all
- Lack of information
- Information not being used to enhance practice
- Lack of collaboration
- Lack of support from administration/coaches
- Not given enough time for reflection
- Reflection is not being used to enhance practice
- Some of the reflections are done alone
- Not having a foundational knowledge of understanding the concept of reflective practice
- Application of knowledge building skills in reflecting on practice both individually and collaboratively

Thecasesolutions.com

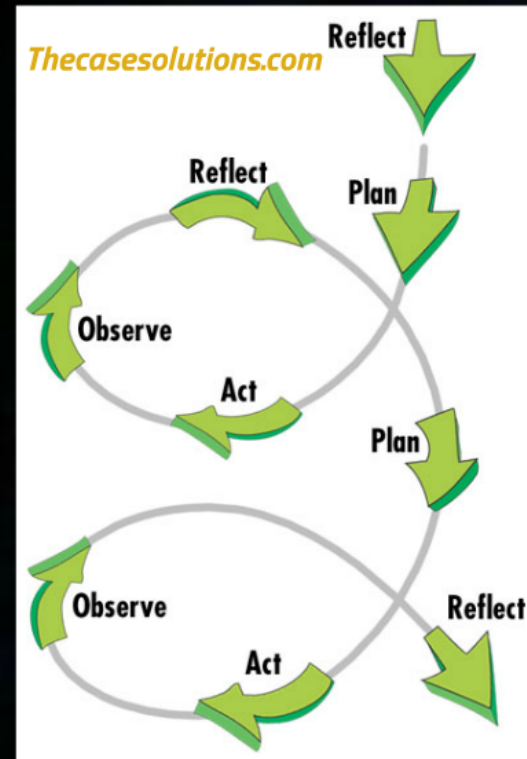

Introduction

Thecasesolutions.com

Educators that use reflective teaching strategies in their classrooms find they are able to enhance and enrich their teaching. Reflection utilizes various means in assessing why and how we teach as well as what the outcome of the teaching is. Reflecting on our teaching opens the doors of learning. By learning, we can become better educators.

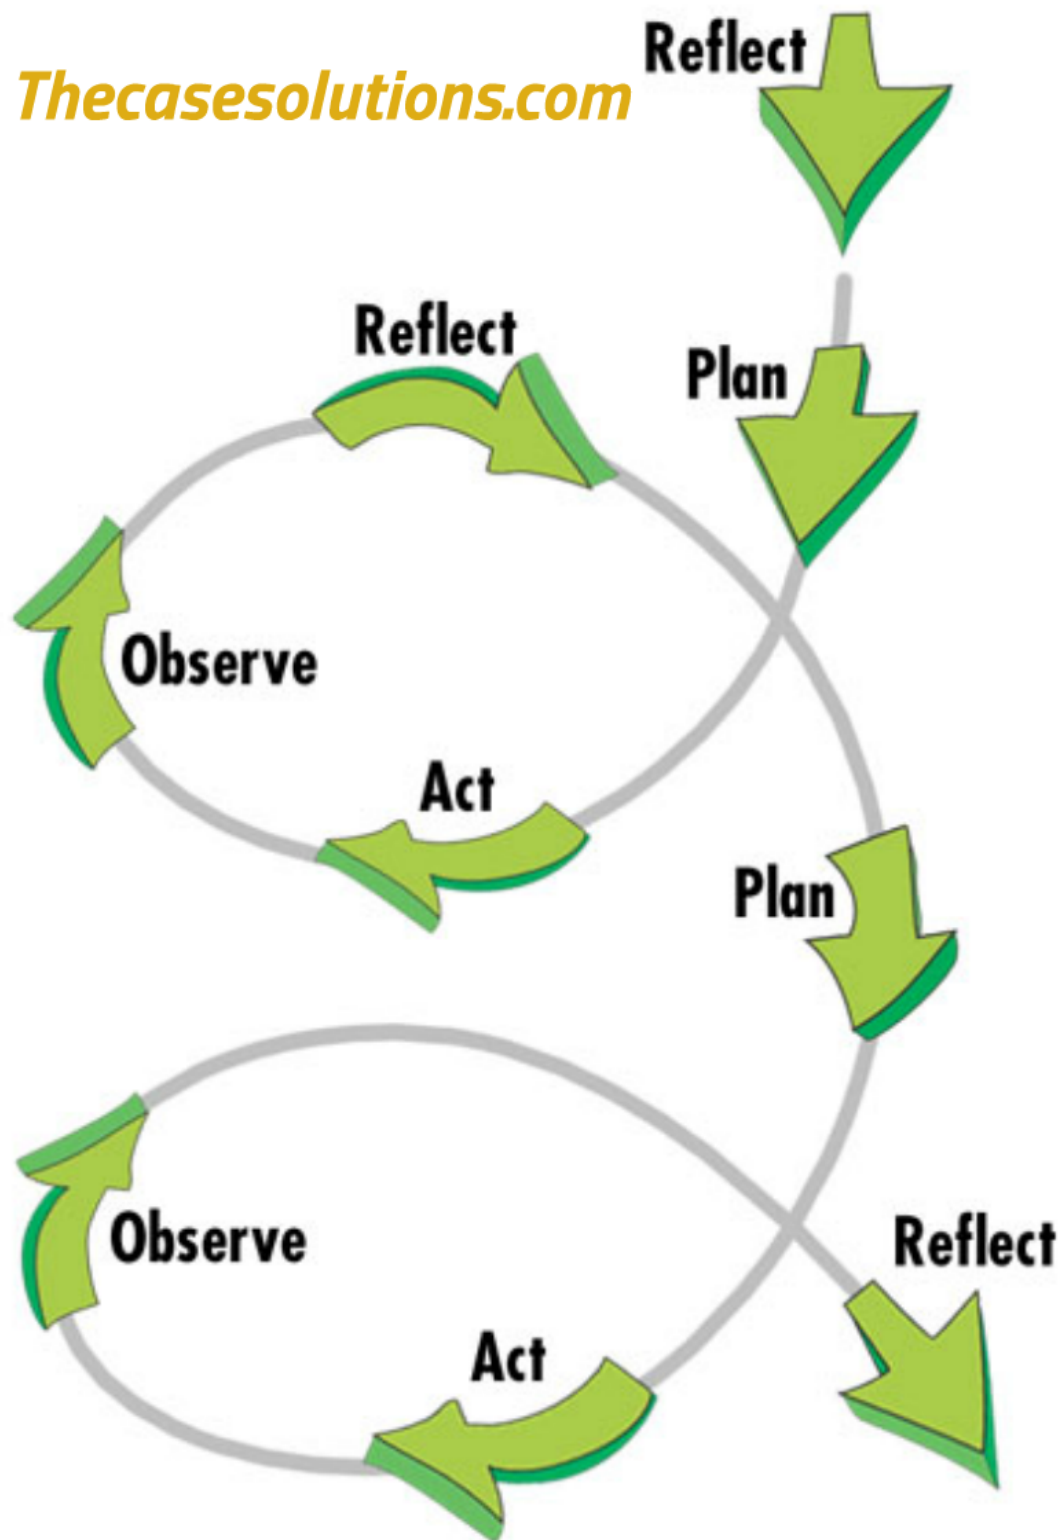

Reflective practices for teachers allow an educator to look at what is being taught, how he/she is teaching it and what the outcome of the lessons are. The purpose is to learn what works for the individual teacher as well as what works for the students.

Reflective practices for teachers are important because it keeps us fresh, motivated, engaged. Most importantly It improves our teaching and learning

lecting
s of ecome

ners hat is aching e lessons at works ell as

Thecasesolutions.com

Educators that use reflective teaching strategies in their classrooms find they are able to enhance and enrich their teaching. Reflection utilizes various means in assessing why and how we teach as well as what the outcome of the teaching is. Reflecting on our teaching opens the doors of learning. By learning, we can become better educators.

Reflective practices for teachers allow an educator to look at what is being taught, how he/she is teaching it and what the outcome of the lessons are. The purpose is to learn what works for the individual teacher as well as what works for the students.

Reflective practices for teachers are important because it keeps us fresh, motivated, engaged. Most importantly It improves our teaching and learning

REFLECTIVE

I think about how I can improve.

Cc

Strengths

Thecasesolutions.com

- Professional growth
- Productive Professional Development meetings
- Achieving students goal
- Developing Teacher/Student relationship
- Teacher support's student learning
- Enhance and enrich teaching
- Willing to grow and learn new strategies
- Discuss about Teaching & Learning using the critical incident protocol

Weaknesses

Thecasesolutions.com

- Poor Professional Developments
 - Focus on one core subject rather in all
 - Lack of information
- Intervention not being used to enhance practices
- Lack of collaboration
- Lack of support from administration/coaches
- Not given enough time for reflection
- Reflection is not being used to enhance practices
- Some of the Reflections are done alone
- Not having a Foundational knowledge of understanding the concept of reflective practice
- Application of knowledge building skills in reflecting on practice both individually and collaboratively

Next steps

Thecasesolutions.com

- Have all teachers collaborate for effective growth, collaboration is needed
- Create Model classrooms to be used in observations and teacher feedback
- Develop a Professional Learning Community
- Become flexible and adaptable to all teachers
- Design a student evaluation to receive feedback on students work
- Setting goal
- Differentiated Evaluation Models
- Conduct a Reflective Practice on ways students can learn more effectively in our classroom
- Provide opportunities to discuss new strategies
- Support critical thinking and encourage innovation
- Create and utilize assessment scores/questions
- Work with a mentor
- Read and utilize student assessments