

Thecasesolutions.com

Structured Notes

How do you take notes?

Thecasesolutions.com

Dr. Wang's Speech

Inspired by the speech, I wrote a paragraph or group of paragraphs about the speech and how it made me feel.

For understanding speech, King said, "I have a dream." This speech was a great one. It was very powerful and it was very inspiring. It was the best I have ever heard of.
I hope you can hear it and be inspired by it. It is a great speech and it is a great example of how to speak. It is a great example of how to inspire people.

1. Organize the notes into sections. Use the notes to create a table of contents.
2. Use the notes to create a list of key points.
3. Use the notes to create a list of key questions.
4. Use the notes to create a list of key answers.

Preposition/Support

Thecasesolutions.com

Problem/Solution

What is structured note taking?

Thecasesolutions.com

The purpose:

- Helps students become more effective note takers.
- More than 90% of the material that students read or hear is forgotten within minutes. So having a note taking strategy greatly increases retention and recall.
- Uses graphic organizers that are specific to the text.
- Helps students comprehend the content of the reading, retain information and then recall the information later.
- Used during (and can be used after) reading.

Benefits:

- Helpful when students are interpreting/analyzing textual structures.
- Gives students a routing guide to get through hard texts.
- Acts as a model of how students should organize their ideas on their read.

My Experience

Thecasesolutions.com

I have taken notes before...and have used graphic organizers, but I don't remember ever using them together in this manner.

How do I use this?

Thecasesolutions.com

Model, model, model!

- Chronological, Compare and Contrast, Order of Importance, Sequence, Spatial, Cause and Effect, Problem and Solution

2. Create a graphic organizer for the specific type of text you are working with.

3. Explain the graphic organizer to the students. Have the students create their own graphic organizer for the text, but offer the students to create their own.

4. Assign passages to the students for them to take notes on.

5. Walk through the graphic organizer with the students. When they are done, they should be able to explain it themselves.

How do I use this?

Thecasesolutions.com

4. After the students have completed the reading, they share their work with a partner, or small group.

- They explain why they included/excluded certain information.
- Identify why they placed it where they did on the graphic organizer.

5. Provide extra scaffolding and practice as needed so the students can identify the type of text, create the graphic organizer themselves and then find the appropriate information individually.

Thecasesolutions.com

Structured Notes

How do you take notes?

Thecasesolutions.com

On Amy's Smartboard in the history class, she had a handout of notes on the topic of America's role in the world. The notes were written in a way that was easy to read and understand. The notes were organized in a way that was easy to read and understand. The notes were organized in a way that was easy to read and understand.

Proposition/Support

Thecasesolutions.com

Problem/Solution

What is structured note taking?

Thecasesolutions.com

The purpose of structured note taking is to help students become more effective note takers. More than 50% of the material that students read in their textbooks is never retained, so having a note-taking strategy greatly increases retention and recall.

- Use graphic organizers that are specific to the text.
- Helps students comprehend the content of the reading, retain information and then recall the information later.
- Used notes (and can be used after) reading.
- Benefits:
 - Helpful when students are integrating/deciphering textual structures.
 - Gives students a reading guide to get through hard texts.
 - Acts as a model of how students should organize their ideas as they read.

My Experience

I have taken notes before... and have used graphic organizers, but I don't remember ever using them together in this manner.

Thecasesolutions.com

How do I use this?

Thecasesolutions.com

Model, model, model!

1. Review the organization of the text: Perspective, Sequence, Spatial, Cause and Effect, Problem and Solution, Spatial, Cause and Effect, Compare and Contrast.
2. Create graphic organizers for the specific type of text you are working with.
3. Establish the teacher should create the graphic organizer for the class, but allow the students to create their own.
4. Always provide for the students for there to take notes when they are able, they should be able to take notes at any time.

How do I use this? (Part 2)

Thecasesolutions.com

4. After the students have completed the reading they share their work with a partner, or small group, and explain what they included/featured in their information.
5. Justify why they passed it where they did on the graphic organizer.
6. Provide extra scaffolding and practice as needed so all students can identify the type of text, create the graphic organizer themselves and then find the appropriate information/ideality.

How do you take notes?

Thecasesolutions.com

Dr. King's Speech

Inspired by the boycott's success, thousands of people gather in a Montgomery church on the evening of December 5 to listen to their new leader, Dr. King.

In a spellbinding speech, King explains why the boycott must continue. "There comes a time," he says, "that people get tired. We are here this evening to say to those who have mistreated us for so long, that we are tired, tired of being segregated and humiliated, tired of being kicked about by the brutal feet of oppression." But above all, King asks that the protesters fight without violence. In response, the crowd rise to their feet. Thunderous applause fills the air.

Leaving the church that night, the people are as determined as ever to keep the boycott going. They have three simple demands:

1. Change the law that says African-American passengers must give up their seats to white passengers.
2. Bus drivers must be courteous to all riders.
3. Hire African-American bus drivers.

Though the demands are modest, city commissioners and the bus company still refuse to budge. Instead of weakening the boycotters' determination, the city's refusal only pushes the protesters to demand an end to bus segregation altogether.

What is structured note-taking?

Thecasesolutions.com

- The purpose:
 - Help students become more effective note takers.
- More than 50% of the material that students read or hear is forgotten within minutes, so having a note-taking strategy greatly increases retention and recall!
- Uses graphic organizers that are specific to the text.
 - Helps students comprehend the content of the reading, retain information and then recall the information later.
- Used during (and can be used after) reading.
- Benefits:
 - Helpful when students are interpreting/ determining textual structures.
 - Gives students a reading guide to get through hard texts.
 - Acts as a model of how students should organize their ideas as they read.

How do I use this?

Thecasesolutions.com

Model, model, model!

- 1. Determine the organization of the text:
 - Chronological, Compare and Contrast, Order of Importance, Sequence, Spatial, Cause and Effect, Problem and Solution
- 2. Create a graphic organizer for the specific type of text your are working with.
 - Initially, the teacher should create the graphic organizer for the class, but after the students have a solid understanding, they should be able to create their own.
- 3. Assign passage to the students for them to take notes on.
 - Initially, work through the graphic organizer with them. When they are able, they should be able to complete it themselves.

How do I use this? (Part 2)

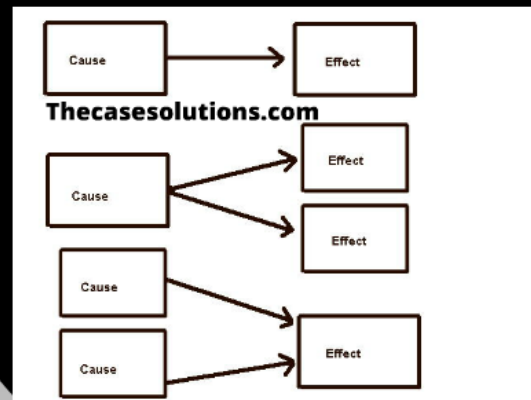

Thecasesolutions.com

4. After the students have completed the reading, they share their work with a partner, or small group.
 - They explain why they included/excluded certain information.
 - Justify why they placed it where they did on the graphic organizer.
5. Provide extra scaffolding and practice as needed so the students can identify the type of text, create the graphic organizer themselves and then find the appropriate information individually.

My Experience

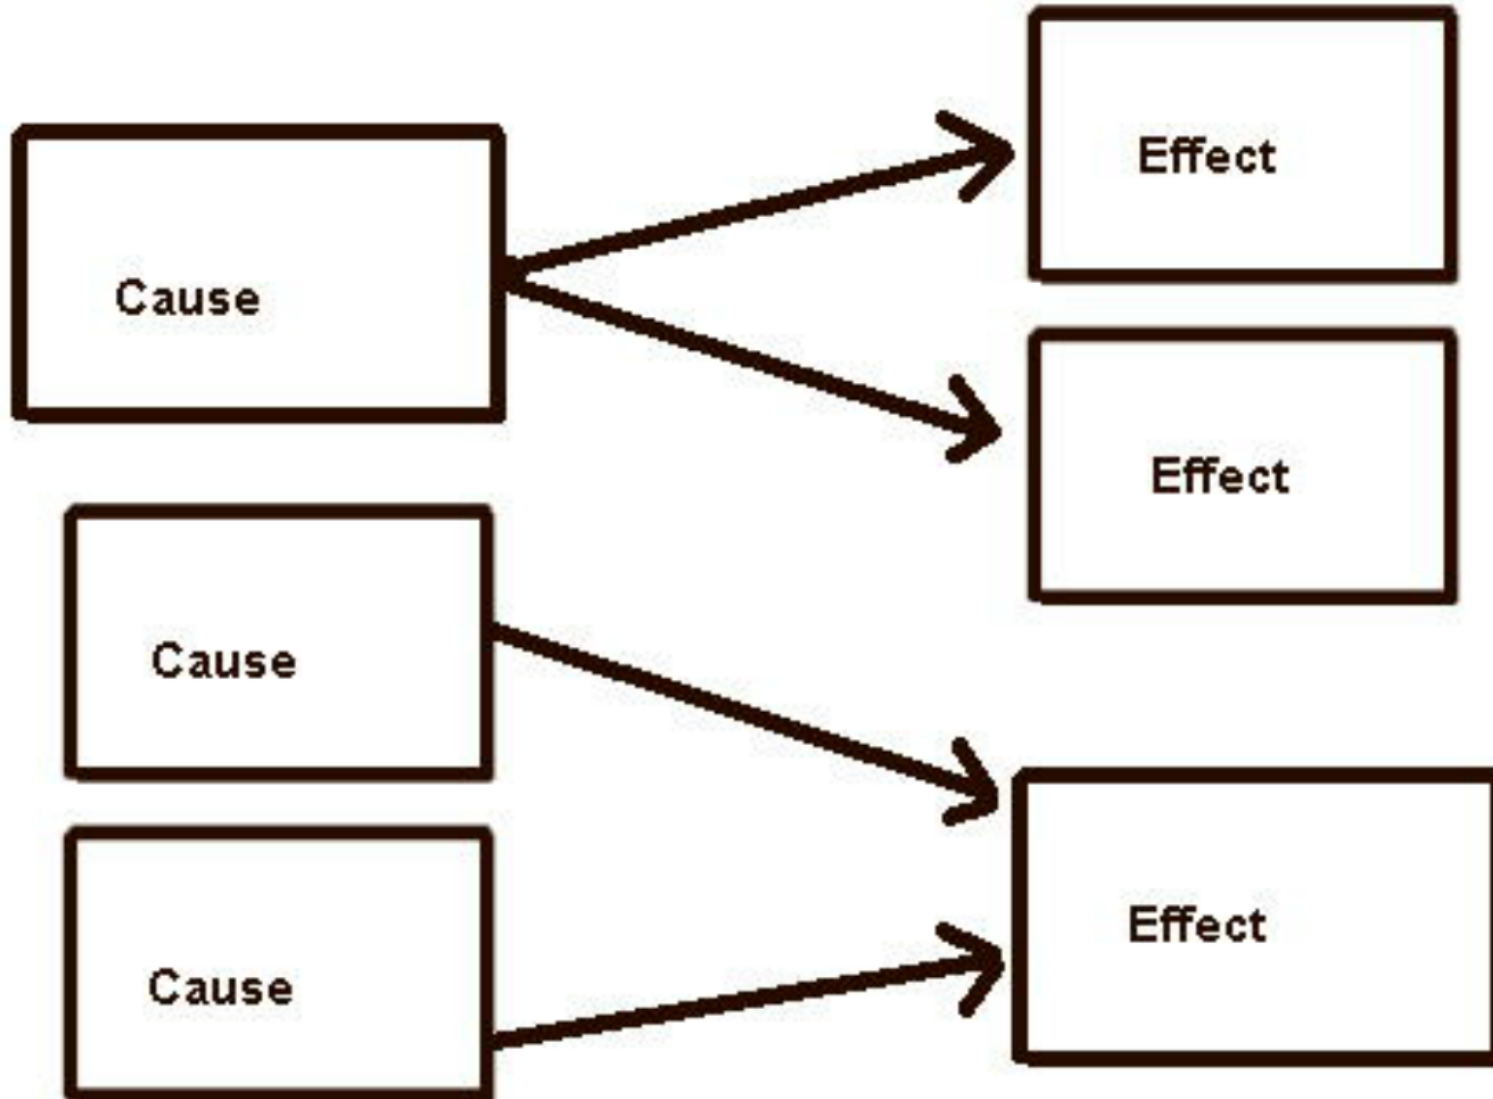

I have taken notes before , and have used graphic organizers, but I don't remember ever using them together in this manner.

Thecasesolutions.com

Thecasesolutions.com

Proposition/Support

Thecasesolutions.com

Problem/Solution