

Thecasesolutions.com

Ineffectiveness of the ICC

- Some progress made but not an effective court.
- The Rome Statute remains quite general.
- Lack of state cooperation.

Thecasesolutions.com

Western imperialism

- The ICC does not judge Western powers
- It clearly targets African leaders
- It is ranked 20th by the Eurasian Circle
- Not all members of the Security Council have called it

Thecasesolutions.com

Thecasesolutions.com

Thecasesolutions.com

CONCLUSION

The ICC's limited powers

The ICC targeting African leaders

The ICC failing to meet expectations

Thecasesolutions.com

The International Criminal Court

- Intergovernmental organisation and international tribunal
- 1998: 120 states signed the Rome Statute
- 2002: 60 states ratified it
- It tries individuals for:
  - genocide
  - war crimes
  - crimes against humanity
  - crimes of aggression
- Aim
- Court of last resort

Thecasesolutions.com

Reference list

Journal Article
 Nelson, R. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Journal Article
 O'Connell, M. (2011). 'The ICC's limited powers: a critical analysis of the Rome Statute's jurisdictional provisions'. Journal of International Law and Practice, 40(1), 1-15.

Thecasesolutions.com

The International Criminal Court

The International Criminal Court

- Intergovernmental organisation and international tribunal
- 1998: 120 states signed the Rome Statute
- 2002: 60 states ratified it
- It tries individuals for:
  - genocide
  - war crimes
  - crimes against humanity
  - crimes of aggression
- Aim
- Court of last resort

Thecasesolutions.com

Ineffectiveness of the ICC

- Some progress made but not an effective court.
- The Rome Statute remains quite general
- Lack of state cooperation

Thecasesolutions.com

Western imperialism

- The ICC does not judge Western powers
- It clearly targeted African leaders
- It is funded 70% by the European Union
- Not all members of the Security Council have ratified it

Thecasesolutions.com

[International Criminal Court, 2017, 'The State Parties to the Rome Statute'. Available at <https://justiceinconflict.org/2012/02/22/is-the-icc-racist/>

Ineffectiveness of the ICC

- Some progress made but not an effective court.
- The Rome Statute remains quite general
- Lack of state cooperation

Thecasesolutions.com

Western imperialism

- The ICC does not judge Western powers
- It clearly targeted African leaders
- It is funded 70% by the European Union
- Not all members of the Security Council have ratified it

[International Criminal Court, 2017, 'The State Parties to the Rome Statute'. Available at <https://justiceinconflict.org/2012/02/22/is-the-icc-racist/>

Thecasesolutions.com

- ICC not entirely bias against Africa
Not all African States are against the ICC

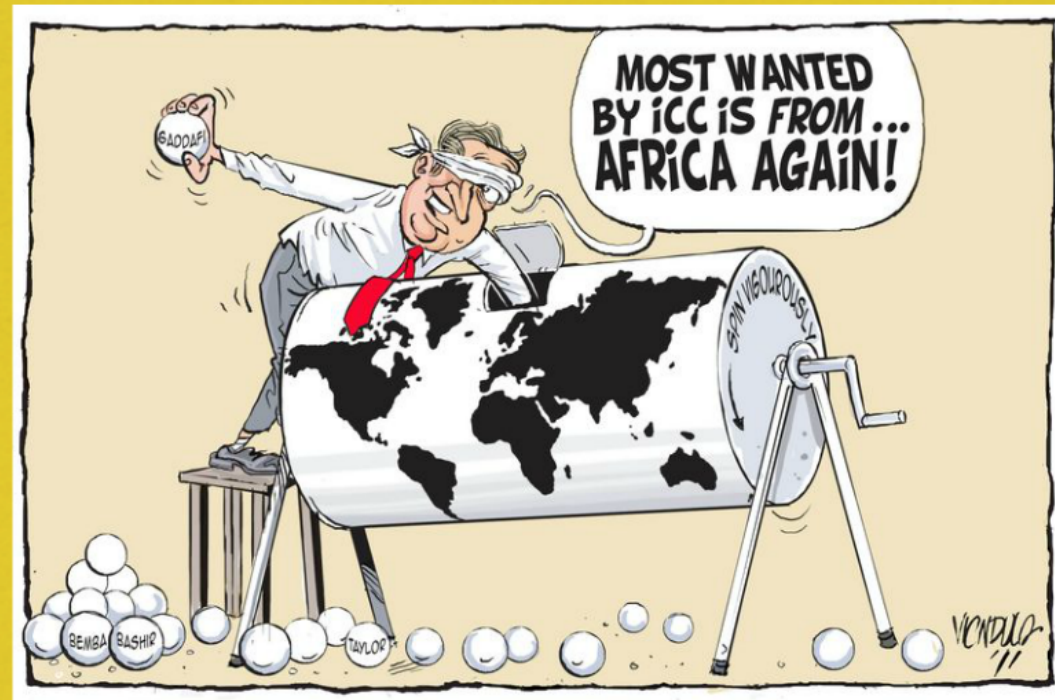

[Kersten, 2012, 'Is the ICC racist?'. Available at <https://justiceinconflict.org/2012/02/22/is-the-icc-racist/>]

Thecasesolutions.com

Thecasesolutions.com

- ICC not entirely bias against Africa
Not all African States are against the ICC

[Kersten, 2012, 'Is the ICC racist?'. Available at <https://justiceinconflict.org/2012/02/22/is-the-icc-racist/>]

Thecasesolutions.com

CONCLUSION

The ICC's limited powers

The ICC targeting African leaders

The ICC failing to meet expectations

Thecasesolutions.com