"A varied and exciting 3.5 years working to help transform London's food"

End Cage Cruelty
Email your council now to let them know you don't want them supporting cage cruelty

I ran and developed the London Food Link members' network, supported by 200 organisations and individuals from across the capital.

My responsibilities ranged from providing over the phone support to our members, to developing campaigns, including an action to see the increased use of cage-free eggs in London.

I organised regular events to showcase London's sustainable food sector for 70+ attendees, presented my work within public meetings and policy forums and even hosted a London summit on bees at London City Hall.
