

Effects of Rice Subsidies on the Thailand Harvard Case Solution & Analysis

TheCaseSolutions.com

location of plantation of rice

the location of plantation is in Asia and China.

characteristics of rices natural biome

the natural Biome for rice is a warm moist area of the world the impact of growing rice on the Biome

more land being used for growing rice so that means not much room for other crops.

how has the Biome changed?

the equator
hasly to it
of the to the north of it greater the
the south side

is crop used as foodstuff and/ or biofuel

It is used as foodstuff

what companys buy your crop

Effects of Rice Subsidies on the Thailand Harvard Case Solution & Analysis

TheCaseSolutions.com

location of plantation of rice

the location of plantation is in Asia and China.

characteristics of rices natural biome

the natural Biome for rice is a warm moist area of the world

the impact of growing rice on the Biome

more land being used for growing rice so that means not much room for other crops.

how has the Biome changed?

There is more availability of land for growing rice and therefore greater productivity

is crop used as foodstuff and/ or biofuel

It is used as foodstuff

what companys buy
your crop

location of plantation of rice

the location of plantation is in Asia and China.

characteristics of rices natural biome

the natural Biome for rice is a warm moist area of the world

the impact of growing rice on the Biome

more land being used for growing rice so that means not much room for other crops

how has the Biome changed

food source healthy food cheap to grow repopulation develop greater rice productivity is crop used as foodstuff and/or biofuel

it is used as foodstuff

what companys buy
your crop