"The Ravine"

by Graham Salisbury

GOAL: Students will be able to describe characters and setting and make inferences in the context of a short story.

Purpose: In this story "The Ravine!" Graham Salisbury wants you to make inferences to comprehend this story. How is fear revealed to the reader? How do I use text evidence and my own knowledge to make inferences while I read?

Task: 1st reading: As you listen and read, write any questions you have as you read. Also, make note of the characters and the setting.

2nd reading: Focus on Vinny and Joe-Boy. Make inferences by listing character traits on the character web for Vinny, citing text evidence (put line #). Create a character web for Joe-Boy below. Honors: Include Starlene or Mo.

With a small group, discuss how Vinny's feelings and behavior are influenced by the boy's tragic death. Refer to events in the story to support your ideas. What would have happened if the story were taken place somewhere else? What if the story of the boy never happened?
