

TheCaseSolution.Com

TheCaseSolution.Com

Feliz

Navidad

GeSeënde KerSfeeS!

Merry

fete Noël!

Christmas!

Linksmu Kaledu

Buon Natale!

Selamat
hari Natal

Of course, most know the way the majority of Canadians celebrate Christmas: a fragrant, verdant Christmas tree slung with brilliant lights, ornate decorations festooning the foyer, and of course, the presents! Many believe our Christmas is the best, and wouldn't stop to think on Christmas morning while shredding through mounds of wrapping paper how others in the world celebrate this great day. But upon learning other traditions and customs of Christmas that are celebrated around the world, who wouldn't question the simplicity of our Christmas traditions compared to some that have been going on for ages? And the slides of this Prezi, packed with the traditions and customs of a series of places around the world, await.

Australia

In Australia, it's not rare that on Christmas morning the temperature would escalate into the mid 30s.

Australia

In Australia, it's not rare that on Christmas morning the temperature would escalate into the mid 30s.

Many Australians love to have Christmas dinner at Bondi Beach, a huge tourist attraction in Sydney. Sometimes if they're lucky, Santa will arrive by on a surfboard or even a surf lifesaving boat!

It's a great tradition in Australia to have a Christmas dinner at Bondi Beach. Sometimes if they're lucky, Santa will arrive by on a surfboard or even a surf lifesaving boat!

A typical Christmas meal would consist of mainly turkey, with some ham and pork. For dessert--a steaming Christmas plum pie. During the gold rush, people would place gold nuggets inside the pudding for a pleasant surprise, and to this day in Australia a small gift is still often baked inside this dessert. Whoever finds the gift will have good luck for the day.